

CAMPBELL CAME NOT.

A Great Crowd Disappointed at Bellaire Last Night.

GOV. M'CORKLE MAKES A SPEECH.

Followed by a Brief One by Mr. Scott, of Illinois—The Wheeling Contingent Makes the Town Gay and has a Good Time—Delay in Leaving Causes Some Embarrassment, but Everything Passed off Well.

Bellaire has not often seen a greater political demonstration than that of last night, gotten up in ex-Gov. James E. Campbell's honor. Wheeling furnished a large part of the turnout, and the fact that the West Virginia colonels were to be there in force helped to draw out the other people. It was announced yesterday that Mr. Campbell was too ill to speak and would not be present, but the hope was held out that he would at least appear on the platform at Bellaire. Late in the day, however, the truth was realized, and it was known to a certainty that he would not be on hand. The enthusiasm that had been worked up departed as if on wings. Interest in the meeting was at a low ebb and it required extraordinary effort on the part of the managers to keep up any life among those who for two or three days had been counting on a good time.

There is no disguising the fact that Mr. Campbell has won the admiration of many people by the active campaign he has been making single handed and alone and there was bitter disappointment apparent when it became known that he was not to be present. Evidently it was to have been a Campbell meeting more than a Democratic one. But the world of his illness soon spread everywhere and it cut down the number of visitors.

The Elvian theater was nicely arranged, the stage tastefully decorated, pictures of President Cleveland, Allen G. Thurman and Ex-Governor Campbell being hung in full view of the audience in the center of decorations made up of the national colors, but nowhere could a picture of Calvin S. Brice be seen.

Hackett's brass band got out early in the evening and with lively airs upon the streets, attracted a crowd to await the arrival of Governor MacCorkle, of West Virginia, and Hon. Owen Scott, of Illinois. They had been at Wheeling in the afternoon and the train did not reach Bellaire until nearly 8 o'clock. Several delegations that had not heard the chief attraction of the evening could not be there, had arrived, and the expressions of disappointment had a stifling effect upon the effort to keep up even an appearance of enthusiasm.

However, the thing had been arranged and had to be carried out, and in spite of the drawbacks the managers got a large crowd into the theater.

The meeting was very late in getting started. This was not so much the fault of the late arrival of the speakers, as of the unnecessary delay of the Wheeling crowd. This city sent down over 400 people, and the cars were all uncomfortably overcrowded. Half the crowd were Prince Albert coats, silk hats and big yellow chrysanthemums. Meister's band headed them, and they had to make a local show by marching up Chapline street to Twelfth, down to Market, to Fourteenth, to Main and on Main to South. The train, announced to leave at 7, got away soon after 8, and then it had to run slowly to let the conductor get all the tickets.

The show of red fire and other pyrotechnics illuminated the whole heavens as the train approached Bellaire. There another delay occurred while distinguished guests were hunted up to put into four or five hacks. Wheeling made most of the parade. The streets were packed with people all along the line, and a few houses were illuminated and decorated. It was very evident that Colonel Delaplaine's aggregation of Colonels was the main attraction, however, and comparatively few of them went into the hall.

Mr. A. W. Kennon, chairman of the county committee, called the meeting to order and announced John H. Campbell, one of the local candidates for representative, as chairman. Mr. Campbell in a few words introduced Gov. MacCorkle.

Gov. MacCorkle opened by requesting the crowd to give three rousing cheers for Campbell, "next President of the United States." They were given. He said the Republicans talked of winning in West Virginia, and told a story of a man who said that the Lord would govern in this country hereafter, to which another responded that in order to be elected he would have to run on the Democratic ticket. This caused wild applause.

The governor addressed his remarks largely to the "half-headed backsliders" who voted the Republican ticket last time. He referred to the Homestead strike and the Winchester rifles used there, and declared that "all the troubles the laboring man has had for thirty years come from a tax which did not do justice to them, and did more than justice to the rich man." Now, he said, at the grand coming of the millennium of Democracy, the smoke is beginning to burr from every chimney.

He said: "I am building a railroad down here in West Virginia. I am not a poor fellow any longer. Since I get $2,700 a year and spend five or six thousand, I am a monopolist. I am building a railroad through the richest country in the world. All along it is plenty of lumber and coal ready for shipment, but we have not received rails enough to put down ten miles of track. Why? Because the Wilson bill has given the business such a stimulus that, though I am a monopolist, with plenty of money to pay for the rails, they can't fill my order." He said the same thing was true as to a street railway he was largely interested in in Charleston, and for the same reason. "How does that sit on your inside, old Grandmother Calamity?" he asked.

A voice from the audience asked about the soldiers he sent to shoot miners. "They tell you Governor McKinley and I flooded the country with soldiers, to shoot men who couldn't get anything to put in their bellies but lead. But since the Wilson bill passed you haven't seen the flash of a bayonet nor heard the crack of a musket."

He gave the Wheeling delegation a great send off, and referring to the charge that he was not a Democrat, said he would be voting that ticket when these same people would kick because he did. He contrasted the state of affairs in Ohio and West Virginia, much to the latter's advantage, and attributed it to Ohio's Republicanism and West Virginia's Democracy.

He said he thought when he was running for governor of West Virginia he made the worst speech in Wheeling he had ever heard, and he supposed he ought to apologize now.

He was followed by Mr. Scott, a brilliant talker, a brainy looking man, who rattled off a very interesting speech in about fourteen minutes and a half, commencing at 10:45, Wheeling time. Mr. Scott opened with a story. He said he could not present political truths as did the gentleman who preceded him, but once he was in a railroad station at Kankakee. A woman with a bright boy holding her hand approached the ticket agent and asked what time the 10 o'clock train went out. She was told it usually went out about 10 o'clock. She said "Thank you," very sweetly. A little later she again appeared with the boy, and asked the same question, and was again politely answered, thanked the agent and retired. A third, fourth and fifth time the same thing happened, when the agent said, just a little warm, "I told you an hour ago the train left at 10 o'clock."

"Yes, thank you," said the lady; "I know it all the time, but my little boy likes to see your mouth work."

Mr. Scott made no application of the story, but after the laughter subsided went into a really able eulogy of Campbell and a short glance at state issues, which was interrupted by the Wheeling band outside. The West Virginia contingent got home considerably after midnight, and most of them will find out from the papers this a. m. what happened at the Bellaire meeting.

A Notable Comic Opera.

Camille D'Arville, "the queen of comic opera," as she is called, will make her first appearance here by special arrangement for one night at the Opera House next Monday, in "Madeline, or the Magic Kiss," coming direct from the Broad Street Theatre, Philadelphia, where the company is now filling its fourth engagement to crowded houses and most intense enthusiasm. No comic opera star of the day has had such success as Miss D'Arville. The run of twenty weeks in New York city was to the largest business known in the history of the theatre, and everywhere the standing sign is put out before 8 o'clock. The company consists of Maude and Hilda Hollins, H. W. Ravenscroft, W. G. Stewart, Rose Lighton and George C. Bonifacio, Jr., and many others, also a chorus of fifty voices.

Good Entertainment.

A happy selection of talent has been made for the Y. M. C. A. lecture and entertainment course. The Jessie Cushman Company is a combination of star performers. Each one is a soloist of marked ability. Miss Cushman had the distinguished honor of being selected to read "The Prophecy" at the opening of the World's Fair in Chicago. The Laura Dainty Company is strong and will present a varied programme of a character cast to please all classes. The three lecturers are men of recognized ability. Dr. Hedley, a most gifted platform man, will open the course on Monday evening.

Fifty Wheeling Creek.

Yesterday residents of Fulton called on the city health board to see if something could not be done toward cleaning Wheeling creek and keeping it clean. It was pointed out that a few people there are openly violating the law, and it maybe brought to the attention of the grand jury. In the mean time measures for flushing the creek are being considered.

Show Notes.

This evening "Two Old Cronies" will open at the Grand. It is always sure of a good house.

"The Two Johns" pleased the crowd at the Opera House last night. It is old, but funny as ever.

Glass Pots Broken.

One furnace at the Crystal glass works was shut down yesterday for repairs. In filling and heating the fifteen pots in that furnace twelve of them were broken.

Another Who Defends Garfield.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 23.—In an interview printed in the News-to-day Col. W. R. Holloway, of this city, said that on the second day of the Republican national convention at Chicago, in 1880, he dined with General Garfield and Col. Robert G. Ingersoll. Holloway expressed the opinion that Garfield would be nominated at the end of a hard fight. Garfield turned to Holloway and said: "That is not possible, and I hope you will not talk that way. I am here for Sherman and am doing everything that is possible for me to do to further his nomination."

San Francisco Wants It.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—This city is after the National Republican convention and work has just commenced in earnest to that end. At the end of the first day's work $50,000 had been subscribed towards the proposed fund of $100,000, which will be necessary if the convention comes to the Pacific coast. Prominent men of all parties are working to bring the convention here and they have been assured by members of the national committee that San Francisco's claims will be given careful consideration.

The Doctor Deserted.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 23.—Mrs. John Hawkins, of Niagara Falls, who followed her husband and a variety actress to this city, has succeeded by her hot pursuit in breaking up the affair. Hawkins was deserted here by the actress, and the detectives have been given the information that the elopement was a scheme planned by her to bleed Hawkins, and that she succeeded in capturing all the money he had. Hawkins discovered that his wife was after him and has fled to Buffalo, whither she has followed him.

Wrecked by Cattle.

EAST RADFORD, Va., Oct. 23.—A fast through freight on the Norfolk & Western was wrecked by a herd of cattle three miles west of Max Meadows at 3 o'clock this morning. Engineer George O'Neil, fireman G. P. Lindamond and front brakeman Ed Hovetter, all of Bristol, Tenn., were instantly killed. Conductor Lewis Moore and two other brakemen were seriously injured.

A Good Scheme.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 23.—The Cleveland chamber of commerce will within a few days send to the chambers of commerce of 300 cities in the United States a circular giving the action of the Cleveland body in requesting the Republican and Democratic national committees to shorten the time of presidential campaigns.

CATHOLICS AND HEBREWS.

Invited to Send Fraternal Delegates to the W. C. T. U. Convention.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 23.—Miss Frances Willard carried the Woman's Christian Temperance Union convention with her to-day in a movement to include in fraternal relation Catholics and Hebrews. The question arose on the following resolution:

Resolved, That Catholic women and Hebrew women should be invited to send fraternal delegates from their annual conventions to ours, and to establish branches of the White Ribbon society within their own borders.

One of the delegates suggested that it might not be quite consistent for the Woman's Christian Temperance Union to ask Hebrews to affiliate. This roused Miss Willard. She said: "I want to recognize these two denominations because in places where I have been, especially in the south, they exhibited sympathy with our work, and have extended every courtesy. It has especially touched my heart that in meetings where I have been presenting the work of this organization among those who have welcomed me to the platform have been the Catholic priest and the Hebrew rabbi."

"They knew what I came for. They knew what I represented, and if they were broad enough to go half way and extend the hand of greeting, should my hand be so small and withered as not to accept the clasp? I want to welcome them to us if they want to come."

The resolution was adopted, extending to Theodore Roosevelt "our hearty thanks for his bravery in standing for the right and demonstration that the saloons can be closed on the Sabbath in New York City," and also expressing "our appreciation of the action of Governor Culbertson, of Texas, in preventing the disgrace of a prize fight in that commonwealth."

Mrs. Matilda B. Caroe, of Chicago, presented the "temple report," showing the progress of raising $300,000 necessary to clear "the temple" in Chicago, of debt. Mrs. Caroe reported $108,000 on condition that the balance be raised by January 1.

A Resolution was also adopted.

Exploring the numerous outrages upon defenseless women and children, and urging that steps be taken to mould public opinion, or to secure special legislation as would secure the victim a greater degree of protection. Invitations were received and referred to the executive committee asking the W. C. T. U. to hold its next convention in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Chattanooga and Nashville.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassell, Wis., was troubled with neuralgia and rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by Logan Drug Co.'s drug store.
